I am pleased to announce the appointment of Glenys Coleman to the position of Director of Population Health Services. Glenys will begin her new regional position effective April 15, 2010 and will be based out of Lloydminster.

Glenys Coleman received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the University of Saskatchewan. Since then she has continued her education and has been involved in health care service in many capacities: as a staff nurse, community health nurse, nursing instructor and most recently as the Assistant Facility Manager at Dr. Cooke Extended Care Centre. During her career Glenys has been actively involved in community health activities, health promotion programming, Provincial Health Care Professional Recruitment Strategy, as well as managing private business.

While we are excited to have Glenys join our team, the staff and clients of Dr. Cooke Extended Care Centre will miss her presence and contributions to their facility and to their home. Staff in Continuing Care Services wish Glenys every success in her new position.

Please join us in welcoming Glenys Coleman to her new role as Director of Population Health Services with Prairie North Health Region.
